ICE FAMINE NOT FEARED.

Broad Lake Freezes Over and Icemen Are Happy.

Burlington, Feb. 9.—Burlingtonians will not suffer from an ice famine this year, for the broad lake at its widest place, opposite this city, closed over yesterday afternoon,

It seems that the ice famine seare this year was unwarranted. Last year the broad lake closed over on January In 1890 the lake closed over and broke up twice before it finally froze on March 7. The following year it closed and broke up and then froze on March 8. In the years 1828, 1842 and 1850 the broad lake did not freeze. It will thus be seen that the lake closed over this season earlier than in many previous seasons.
